New waterless toilet!

The Mullbank Composting Toilet gets rid of human wastes naturally without water, chemicals or incineration.

residue of earth-like humus or soil (about enough to fill a coffee can). Once or twice a year, this residue which is safe and odor-free, is

Every time you flush a toilet, 5 gallons of fresh water become 5 gallons of sewage. Each of us flushes between 25 and 30 gallons* of fresh water down the toilet a day. An average family could waste up to 2,500 gallons a month.

removed from a collecting tray at the bottom of the unit. Aside from this no other maintenance is required.

Now fresh water can be saved
The Mullbank is entirely self-contained so no pollution can enter soil or waterways.

Absolutely odor-free

An electric fan and exhaust system remove all odors continuously so you smell nothing. Not even a whiff. Although electricity is required, the Mullbank consumes no more energy per month than two 60-watt bulbs.

By bringing together the right combination of heat, oxygen and humidity the Mullbank creates an environment in which human wastes decompose naturally—under controlled and accelerated conditions—without water, chemicals or incineration.

Easy to install

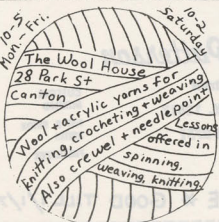

The Mullbank can be installed in less than two hours and has been approved for use by health authorities wherever approval has been sought. For details write: Recreation Ecology Conservation of U.S., Inc., Department ME, 9800 West Bluemound Rd., Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53226.

At the end of a normal year of use, all that remains of excrement, urine and toilet paper generated by an average-sized family is a powder-dry
