

ROOTDRINKER

©ROOTDRINKER (Unless otherwise noted)
 Vol. 3, No. 11, Winter 1978-79
 $1.00/copy retail (U.S.A.)
 $1.25 (Canada)
 All Rights Reserved.
 Correspondence to contributors will be forwarded.
 Printed by Racquette River Print Shop, Potsdam, New York.

"Ice Fishing Traditions in St. Lawrence County" ©Madison County Historical Society, 1978, Oneida, N.Y

Edited, Printed & Published in the United States of America.

STAFF THIS ISSUE

Alan Casline
 Valerie Ingram
 Doug Jones
 Ron Nolland
 Ellen Rocco

STAFF ADDITIONS

Since our last issue there have been two important additions to ROOTDRINKER's staff. A long-time contributor, Ron Nolland has recently purchased a house and land on the slope of Lyon Mountain in Clinton County. Although we don't like seeing Ron, Kate, and Willow leave our neighborhood, it definitely helps ROOTDRINKER towards our goal of becoming more of a regional publication. Living, photographing, and writing about Clinton County, Ron is sure to meet other people who can also contribute to our pages and, through this growth, our publication can only become finer. A native of the Plattsburg area, Ron is an accomplished homesteader and has promised to keep in touch with us concerning his interests and discoveries.

Ellen Rocco, who lives on a homestead near Old DeKalb in St. Lawrence County, has also begun working with us. She's the first staff member we've had with magazine publishing experience. Her contributions to this issue were significant and hopefully will become more so in the coming year.

CREDITS

PHOTOS

Karen Fraser—pp. 22(all) & p. 23.
 Doug Jones—pp. 35 & 36.
 Jennifer Knapp—p. 5.
 Margaret Mucci—back cover.
 Ron Nolland—pp. 2, 3, & 43(all).
 Scott Tallmadge—front cover bottom & p. 18.
 Photos accompanying New Bridge article are uncredited, but are the property of Howard Moore.

DRAWINGS

Helen Ashworth—p. 4.
 Anne DiNardi Danis—p. 12.
 Jason King—p. 11.
 Terry Krinsky—pp. 13, 14, & 31. From the St. Lawrence County Land-Use Plan
 Debbie Weeks—Drawings of Ice Fishing Equipment

HAWKS

Sharp-skinned hawks, male and female,
 Soundlessly singing harmony with the wind
 In helical flights in harmony with the wind
Pas de deux
 Soaring from sunbeam to sunbeam,
 Mountain to valley

In harmony

Ronald Ein

